SCHOOL OF NURSING • COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Mary O. Mundinger, Dr. P.H., R.N., F.A.A.N.

IN 1990-91 we put in place the final pieces of the Columbia Model. We enrolled our first class which was completely filled with those already holding baccalaureate degrees in the liberal arts; we secured three premier hospital sites for our Clinical Partnerships, and the Precepting and Faculty Practice components were further enriched by formal programs to train preceptors and by the recruitment of five new faculty scholars.

The Entry-to-Practice class that began their studies in the fall of 1990 reached a capacity enrollment of 60 students. Because of a long waiting list of qualified applicants, a second class was admitted in January 1991. Students in the class, which was 25% male and included 24% minority students, averaged 36 years of age. This year was the last in which college juniors were accepted for transfer. In the future, the Entry-to-Practice program will be open only to students who already possess a non-nursing bachelor's degree.

The primary clinical affiliates for the Entry-to-Practice program are The Presbyterian Hospital, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and Lawrence Hospital in Bronxville. The School is always alert to new clinical opportunities for our students and this year two new sites were developed for clinical rotations. All students participated in a program working collaboratively with medical students to provide routine care and screenings at the Fort Washington Shelter, the largest homeless men's shelter in New York City. They also participated in rotations at the Incarnation Children's Center, a home for HIV-infected infants that was founded as a collaboration between the Department of Pediatrics, the Archdiocese of New York and the Rudin Family.

The master's program, which comprises about 2/3 of the total student enrollment or approximately 325 students, builds on basic baccalaureate nursing knowledge and skills to educate nurses for advanced practice. Reviewing the programs and the needs of the profession, the faculty determined that the sharp differentiation between a clinical nurse specialist and a nurse practitioner (traditional roles of advanced nursing practice) is really a false dichotomy. We have therefore begun to work to re-unite these roles in our master's programs. Planning is underway to offer clinical certificates for registered nurses who have a master's degree in one area of specialization and who wish to develop an additional area of advanced expertise without obtaining an additional master's degree.

It has been clear for some years that, in order to be a peer of other leading schools of nursing, and, indeed, of most other schools in the University, the School of Nursing would need to offer a doctoral program. Drawing on the historic strength of the School as an educator of clinical nurses and so as not to duplicate degrees that were already offered in the University community, it was determined that the doctoral program for this School should be a clinically focused one. The D.N.Sc. (Doctor of Nursing Science) is aimed at the scholar clinician whose practice offers opportunities for rigorous clinical research. It is distinguished from the Ed.D. in that it does not focus on teaching as an ultimate goal of the candidate, and it differs from the Ph.D. in that the research focuses on clinical outcomes rather than on theory. At the end of the year, the plans for the clinical doctorate in nursing were presented to the Health Sciences Faculty Council and the Provost's Office and were approved for submission to the University Senate. The Senate will examine the proposal further during 1991-1992, before voting on it for approval.

The School of Nursing's three-year study on health and the Washington Heights-Inwood community, funded by a $933,000 grant from the Kellogg Foundation, entered its second year. The study is addressing emerging health care issues in their neighborhood, including the need for increased home care, continuity of care and access to care. It is seeking to suggest a research agenda to provide data for new primary care initiatives, to delineate the resources and linkages required to deliver quality care in large urban communities, and to recommend changes in the training of health professionals to meet the needs of urban communities. It is hoped that the end-product will be a model for future community-based initiatives of academic medical centers.

On April 3, the School held the first ever Ultimate Health Care Auction to benefit the annual scholarship fund. The auction facilities and auctioneer were sponsored by Christie's Auction House on Park Avenue. Over 100 people attended the festive evening which raised $33,000 for nursing scholarships through the purchase of prizes ranging from a weekend trip at a country inn in the Berkshires to horseback riding lessons and a handmade saddle.

The School's Centennial Campaign, under the leadership of Doris Macdonald Hansmann '43, has continued to exceed all expectations. The Anna Maxwell Chair reached $500,000 of the $1 million needed to endow it. This was accomplished through the generosity of numerous alumni and friends, whose commitments were a strong vote of confidence for the future of the School. Scholarship income during the year totaled $564,681 in support from corporations and foundations, the scholarship benefit, the Alumni Association and bequests of alumni and friends.

In January, the Sandoz Research Institute made a challenge pledge of $250,000 to endow a $1 million program in the teaching of pharmaceutical therapeutics to advanced practice nurses. Nurse practitioners to advanced prescriptive authority in most of the United States, but little has been done to address the educational needs related to this new responsibility. The Columbia program will be the first of its kind and will include model curriculum development within the advanced practice programs, continuing education for nurse practitioners and certified nurse specialists, and research partnerships with the sponsors on clinical and market issues. The Sandoz challenge was an important demonstration of leadership by the industry, for which we are deeply grateful. We have been meeting with other corporations to discuss additional collaboration opportunities.

The school year concluded on a warm May day with commencement exercises in the garden of the Medical Center. The commencement address was delivered by Colleen Conaway-Welch, dean of the Vanderbilt University School of Nursing, and a special greeting to the graduates and their families was given by Keville Conrad Frederickson '64, President of the Columbia University-Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing Alumni Association.

We look forward to the Centennial year to come with excitement and optimism. The anniversary of the School's founding will find the school academically and financially solid. We are committed to a continuing evaluation of our programs and achievements to ensure that the education we offer prepares our students for leadership in the complex and challenging health care system they face upon graduation. For this philosophy and the ability to carry it out we are indebted to over 8,000 alumni, friends and colleagues whose 100-year-old legacy will lead us with confidence into our second century.

Alumni and friends alike are at times confused by the terminology used to describe the School's programs. Five years ago when the restructuring of the curriculum began, the faculty felt that new names were necessary to identify the new approaches to nursing education. Much about our programs is new and different, but an underlying commitment to clinical excellence remains the hallmark of this school as it has for almost 100 years.

E.T.P./A.M.P. Entry-to-Practice

The ETP/AMP program is designed for adults who want to obtain R.N. licensure and pursue graduate study. Applicants must possess a bachelor's degree (B.A. or B.S.) in another discipline. Upon successful completion of the accelerated 16-month program, they are awarded the B.S. and are eligible to sit for the State Nursing Boards. These students then continue to study in the master's program in one of ten clinical specialties offered by the School.

R.N./A.M.P.

The Accelerated Master's Program is designed for registered nurses who possess a diploma or associate's degree and who wish to obtain the B.S. and pursue graduate study. The AMP program begins with a 12-month program, culminating in the award of the Bachelor of Science. These students then continue in graduate study with advanced standing as experienced nurses.

M.S.

Columbia offers the master's degree in ten clinical nursing specialties: primary care specialties in adult, family, geriatric, neonatal and midwifery; advanced clinical specialty care in critical care and nurse anesthesia, and acute/community care across settings in oncology and maternal child nursing.

FACULTY PRACTICE AND RESEARCH

Faculty research and practice activities and publications during the 1990-1991 year are listed below.

Carolyn Auerhahn, MS, RNC, ANP
Practice: Adult Nurse Practitioner, Rapid Evaluation Unit, Presbyterian Hospital

Susan Benedict, DSN, RN
Research: clinical study in AIDS

Betty W. Carrington, EdD, RN, CNM
Research: Estimating fetal weight; cross-cultural study in childbearing families

Sarah S. Cook, MEd, RN
Practice: Clinical Nurse Specialist, Maternal-Child Health Joint Practice, OB/GYN, Stamford, CT.

Patrick R. Coonan, MPA, MEd, RN, CEN, CNA
Practice: North Shore Hospital

Theresa M. Doddato, MA, RN, CRNA
Practice: Director of Education, Anesthesia Services, Roosevelt Hospital

Catherine Doherty, MS, RN, CNM
Practice: Nurse midwifery service, Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center

Noreen Esposito, MS, RN, PNNP
Practice: Women's Health Nurse, Columbia University Student Health Services

The faculty practice/research component of the Columbia Model, established in 1986, provides the opportunity for all faculty members to be active in a clinical practice or externally funded research as part of their academic appointment. As a result, the faculty remain current in their field of clinical interest while pursuing an academic career; and students reap the benefit of their experiences in clinical settings and research.

Lucia Fabrizio, MSN, RN, CPNP

Practice: Adolescent Program Coordinator, New York Children's Health Project

Mary Ann Feldstein, EdD, RN, CS

Practice: Private practice in family therapy

Frances Francabandera, MSN, RN

Practice: St.Luke's Hospital

Donna A. Gaffney, DNSc, RN

Research: children's fear, adolescent suicide. Private practice in child psychotherapy

Richard Garfield, DrPH, RN

Research: Health policy/community access patterns for health care; epidemiology

Marianne Glasel, MS, MA, RN

Practice: Sexuality consultant in oncology

Susan Gordon, MS, RN, CRNA

Practice: Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist, St. Luke's Hospital

Mary Jo Hansell, DrPH, RN

Research: Health policy, prenatal care, effectiveness and outcomes of care

Judy Honig, MS, MA, RN, C

Practice: Pediatric Nurse Practitioner, Head Start Program, New York City Schools

Rae Janet Jacobs-Cohen, PhD, RN

Research: Neural crest cell development

Pauline Johnson-Hofer, EdD, RN

Research: Respiratory care and ventilator dependence

Suzanne Lego, PhD, RN, CS, FAAN

Research: Transcultural altruistic behaviors; borderline personalities
Practice: Adult Psychotherapy

Ronnie Lichtman, MS, MPhil, RN, CNM

Practice: North Central Bronx Medical Center

Priscilla Loanzon, EdD, RN

Research: Clinical precepting evaluation

Mary O. Mundinger, DrPH, RN, FAAN

Research: Health policy; family care of the frail elderly; technology assessment in home care

Anne Peirce, PhD, RN

Research: Chaos vs. error in dynamic systems; clinical precepting

Lisa Pillon, MS, RN, OCN

Practice: Oncology consultant/clinical specialist, St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center

Margaret Rogers, MS, RNC, FNP

Practice: Montefiore Family Health Center

Carol Roye, MS, RN, CPNP

Practice: I.S. 161; Adolescent birth control and sexually transmitted diseases

Patricia Ruiz, MS, RN, CPNP

General Pediatric Group Practice, Presbyterian Hospital

Maura Ryan, PhD, RN

Research: Psychosocial aspects of aging

Patricia R. Shonubi, MS, RN

Practice: LINC Consultant, Greater New York Hospital Association

Sally Sobolewski, MSN, RN, C

Practice: Consultation on community based care

Karen Valicenti, MSN, CS

Practice: Private psychotherapy

Sheila Warren, MEd, RN, C,

Practice: Community Health Consultant/ Clinical specialist, Orange County Department of Health

Mary Whelan, MSN, RNCS

Practice: Private psychotherapy

Jerelyn Weiss, JD, RN, FNP

Practice/Research: Nursing practice policy and the law

Fay Wright, MS, RN, CCRN

Practice: Consultation, critical care

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES MAY 14, 1991

The 97th Commencement exercises began on Wednesday, May 13 at the University's Morningside campus where Dean Mundinger presented the candidates for their degrees which were conferred by President Sovorn.

The next day graduates and their families began the day with a brunch served in the Faculty Club where faculty members mingled with students and their guests. We were delighted that although our first full sixteen-month class had had their degrees conferred the previous January, most returned for the formal commencement exercises, which were held for the first time in several years in the Medical Center Garden.

We were honored to have two guest speakers from the nursing profession. Colleen Conway-Welch, Dean of the School of Nursing at Vanderbilt University spoke to the assembled group of bachelor's and master's degree candidates about the challenges and rewards of entering the profession of nursing with a degree from a leading university school of nursing. Dr. Conway-Welch pioneered the New Pathways program and other innovative program structures at Vanderbilt.

Keville Conrad Frederickson, a member of Columbia's class of 1964 and president of the CU-PH School of Nursing Alumni Association since 1989, offered a warm and witty outlook on being an alumnus of Columbia and on entering the profession. Dr. Frederickson, professor of nursing at Lehmann College and clinical nurse scientist at Montefiore Medical Center in the Bronx, is President of the Eastern Nursing Research Society.

Sarah Cook, Associate Dean for Academic and Clinical Affairs presented awards to the graduates for outstanding academic, clinical and service accomplishments. Two new awards, the Dorothy and Thomas O'Neil Awards for excellence in the faculty were presented by Dean Mundinger to Associate Dean Sarah Sheets Cook as distinguished teacher and to Professor Richard Garfield for distinguished community service.

The Jackson Prize for excellence in nursing care of the acutely ill patient is awarded to a member of the graduating class who has demonstrated interest, achievement and professional competence in the care of acutely ill surgical patients.

Laurel West

The Margaret Eliot Award is given in honor of a former Director of Nursing by her sister, Mrs. William Forbes, and is awarded to the student who best combines professional competence, capacity for leadership and wholehearted compassion for patients.

Jack Gentile

The Shafer Award in Nurse Midwifery—to a member of the graduating class who best exemplifies willingness to consider alternative approaches to providing care for childbearing families, sensitivity to the special needs of childbearing women, and provision for family-centered care for all people.

Kathleen Van Tassel

The Margaret F. Sullivan Award for excellence in nurse anesthesia is presented to an outstanding member of the graduating class who best demonstrates qualities of academic excellence, clinical proficiency and empathy for patients.

Donna Capuano

The Theresa Marcos Jansson Award to a member of the graduating Pediatric Nurse Practitioner class who exhibits compassionate, creative caring, technical competence and strong client advocacy. This award is given by the Pediatric Nurse Practitioner Faculty in memory of Terry Marcos Jansson who exemplified all of these qualities.

Shoshona Noble

The Columbia University-Presbyterian Hospital Alumni Award recognizes the contributions of the undergraduate and graduate students who have demonstrated interest, ability and commitment to improving the quality of student-school relationships through active participation in school-related activities.

BS: Aletha Rizzi

MS: Rebecca Wilson

The Faculty Award for Excellence—to the undergraduate and graduate students who best exemplify the philosophy of the School of Nursing and the objectives of the baccalaureate and graduate programs, respectively.

BS: Roberta Lieber

MS: Joseph Colagreco

The Alpha Zeta Chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, the international honor society for nursing, presents its award for excellence to undergraduate and graduate students who best exemplify the principles of Sigma Theta Tau: leadership, scholarship and community service.

BS: Ann Koucky

MS: Martina Letko

The Faculty Award for Academic Achievement—to the undergraduate and graduate students who have achieved the highest cumulative grade point averages.

Roberta Lieber, Laurel West,
Rebecca Wilson, Mary Louise Georgevitch,
Elizabeth Gorowski, Mimi Severt

The Dorothy and Thomas L. O'Neil Distinguished Faculty Awards, established this year in memory of the Dean's parents, are presented to two members of the faculty, one for distinguished teaching, and one for community service.

Sarah Sheets Cook, M.Ed, R.N.—

Distinguished Teaching

Richard Garfield, Dr.P.H., R.N.—

Community Service

Theresa Doddato, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs, presented the graduates for their degrees.

FINANCIAL SUMMARY

These charts compare uses of funds over the last two years. As in the past, salaries and benefits occupied the largest single portion of the School's budget. Competition for the best faculty and staff continues to be driven significantly by compensation and the cost of living in the New York metropolitan area puts a premium on this factor. Our concentration over the last several years on raising funds for faculty endowment is aimed at alleviating this demand on operating income. Endowment generates income in perpetuity that can be used to pay salaries for all levels of faculty members as well as for scholarships and other needs.

Financial aid costs increased by over 17% this year. As the average age of our students increases, so does their relative need for assistance. Entry-to-practice students, who must possess a bachelor's degree before entering the program, are usually ineligible to receive government loans, having used this one-time-only resource for their first baccalaureate degree. With tuition costs at over $13,000 a year, our ability to attract the best students is largely dependent on our ability to offer financial assistance and so we continue to look to alumni, friends, corporations and foundations for their help in meeting this important need.

The "Other" piece of the fiscal pie is shrinking as salaries and financial aid consume larger parts of the budget. But this segment is no less important. It includes expenditures on student programs such as orientation and career placement as well as such physical amenities as appropriate and comfortable study areas, the Technology Learning Center and library resources. Also included in this segment are the administrative expenses of running the school efficiently and effectively. Although we are vigilant in our efforts to control these costs, excessive reductions can eventually lead to a decrease in the quality and quantity of work done. The School's Annual Fund and requests for other unrestricted funding are critical in providing the resources for this segment of the budget.

Uses of Funds

GIVING to the Columbia University School of Nursing July 1, 1990–June 30, 1991

The following lists reflect gifts received between July 1, 1990 and June 30, 1991. Gifts received after June 30, 1991 will be listed in the next report. Please notify the Office of Development and Alumni Affairs of corrections or omissions.

ANNUAL FUND $87,702

Over 1,500 alumni, parents and friends gave a record total of $87,702 to the 1990-1991 Annual Fund, an unprecedented 23% increase over the previous year. We are deeply grateful for this support which demonstrates the personal investment of each contributor in the promise of the School and in the nursing professionals of tomorrow.

This year's Scholarship Fund drive took on a whole new look when, on April 3, the School held the first ever Ultimate Health Care Auction at Christie's on Park Avenue. We are grateful to Christie's which donated its auction hall and the services of a senior auctioneer, and to the many donors of decorations, refreshments and souvenirs, and of the exciting prizes on which participants bid. We deeply appreciate the efforts of the committee members, students and volunteers who worked with energy and dedication to make the evening a success.

We gratefully acknowledge the contributions and support of:

Christie's
